YAP's other program, Targeted Intensive Prevention Services (TIPS) launched in late March and has already received twenty (20) program referrals and has nine (9) youths signed up for programming.

Mr. Walker also reported that he visited Academy Park High School as well as Chichester High School and witnessed firsthand how professional and diligent Safe Corridors staff was with the youths that they serve.

Councilwoman Schaefer asked which youths would be sent to Clock Tower.

Mr. Walker responded that the court determines who would be placed there and that those youths could include youths who are awaiting adjudication. Direct file youths would not be sent to shelter care and a judge would assess the nature of the charges before sending youth there.

Mr. Walker responded the capacity would be around thirty (30), however numbers would try to be kept near twelve (12) at a time while a senior staff is established.
